

Group Times

Benefits of Group Times

Helps develop early literacy skills

Increases hand-eye coordination and visual skills

Encourages sharing and negotiation skills

Provides opportunities to develop peer-peer and peer-adult relationships

Helps develop perseverance

Encourages children to express their preferences and share interests

Learning about technology

Links to the Curriculum

Community: Learning to sit in a group and take turns.

Identity: Children can express ideas and feelings with others. Feel a sense of pride in their achievement and share their success with their others.

Communication: Many opportunities to communicate with staff and students, follow instructions and making choices. Requesting props and objects for the lesson. Listening and speaking!

Learning: Learning about cause and effect. Ideal for visual learners. Encourages engagement in the curriculum and lessons.

Wellbeing: develop hand-eye coordination, consideration of the emotions of self and others.

Opportunities

- Group circle
- Small learning groups
- During Assembly
- Snack time
- Story time

